ecoCORK at ecobuild

We have done many restoration and conservation jobs, but applying ecoCORK to a straw bale cabin on wheels is a first even for us!

But Dan, our intrepid plaster (seen here with his back to us, laying on with a trowel) produced a fantastic finish - smooth with beautiful rounded edges, in keeping with the very organic feel of the enterprise.

The straw bale cabin was the work of Straw Works (www.strawworks.co.uk) and we were pleased to add our ecoCORK render to it.

ecoCORK is an innovative product developed in Portugal as a insulating lime render. People looking to resolve the issue of insulation versus conservation in their restoration project can find in ecoCORK a great option for delivering insulation to their walls, externally or internally, while maintaining the benefits of the breathability and flexibility of a traditional lime mortar.

Additionally, the light weight of ecoCORK in comparison to that of traditional lime mortar is of considerable benefit to substrates such as straw or cob.

We can thank the worldwide adoption of screw tops for our wines for the availability of cork for insulating building products. Of course we can also get to the wine faster...

Regency Plaster in colour

We have been supplying our super fine regency plaster in white for many years, but due to customer demand, we have now started supplying it in colour. Search for “coloured regency” on our website for more information and a colour chart.

It's all about advice, really

Here at Mike Wye & Associates, we are passionate about advice. We have been in this business for over 20 years, and we bring all that considerable experience of actually using the products we sell to bear in giving the best advice we can to our clients.

It's very important to us that our products are used successfully, and we work hard to make sure that our customers, new or existing, get the information they need to achieve the results they are looking for.

This philosophy extends to our websites, where we work really hard to make the correct information available to our customers. Not everyone knows that we have three sites currently, each containing a wealth of useful information about our products:

www.mikewye.co.uk - our main site www.naturalhydrauliclime.net - lots of information about types of lime and useful data sheets and application guides

www.limecrete.net - lime floors
